

Name(s):	Enzo
Age:	14months (approx.)
Size (weight):	45lbs
Coat & colour:	Smooth – black white and tan
Primary Breed:	dachshund	Secondary Breed	Bassett and Coon Hound	Mix breed	Y
Temperament:	Energetic, solid foundation in obedience and is very eager to learn, very smart,
Good with Dogs:	Enjoys the company of another dog, big and small
Good with Cats:	NO extreme prey drive
Good with Kids:	16rs and older
Needs another Dog:	No really		Needs to be an only Dog:	no
Housetraining:	yes
Crate Trained:	Yes and must be maintained
Suitable for an Apartment:	No will not be considered please read entire bio
Origin:	Found as stray – from shelter		Adoption Fee:	$ 750

And now a few words from me:

I am good with other dogs and enjoys making new canine friends. I do have a rough play style, so I'm best matched with dogs who like to play hard and have fun. If you already have a dog who loves to romp and wrestle, I could be a fantastic buddy! However, I can get easily frustrated when I see other dogs, but I can't access them, so I would do best in a home that doesn't encounter a lot of dogs in the neighborhood. Busy, high-traffic areas (like downtown locations or apartment complexes) would not be ideal for me. I need a quieter setting where I have a yard to play in and doesn't have to deal with the constant presence of other dogs.

And now a few words from my foster family:

Why Adopt Enzo? Enzo is a unique mix with tons of potential. With his charming personality and strong foundation in obedience, he's ready to thrive with an owner who understands his needs. Are You Enzo's Perfect Match? Enzo can be an intense dog, full of energy and drive, which makes him a lot of fun for the right person. However, he is also very handler-sensitive and responds well to calm, confident guidance. Enzo thrives with someone who understands his needs and can provide clear, consistent direction. With the right approach, he quickly bonds with his handler and is eager to please, making him a rewarding companion for someone who appreciates a dog with both spirit and sensitivity. Ideal Home: Enzo needs a home that matches his energy. If you're someone who loves to hike, run, or be active outdoors, Enzo would love to be your partner! He would do best in a home with: • No young children (he's a bit too enthusiastic for the little ones) • No prey animals (sorry, cats and rabbits!) • A commitment to continuing his training to keep him sharp and happy. MANDATORY MEET AND GREET IN DELHI ON – Enzo has gone thru a Board and Training Course. And presently is living there till his perfect match is made – Ideal for his future home to have all the training needed ! Huge resource for any dog owner.